

Incarcerated Students

Students incarcerated in federal and state penal institutions aren't eligible for Pell Grants. However, students incarcerated in local penal institutions can still receive Pell Grants. Students incarcerated by jurisdictions defined as a state in the law (such as New Hampshire) are considered to be incarcerated in a state penal institution and aren't eligible for Pell Grants. A student isn't considered incarcerated if he or she is in a halfway house or home detention, or sentenced to serve only on weekends. The costs of attendance for incarcerated students are limited to tuition and fees and those books and supplies specifically related to the student's course of study.

Drug-related Infractions

If the student fails to abide to the "DRUG-FREE WORKPLACE STATEMENT – NOTICE TO STUDENTS" that was signed prior to the first day of school, it will result in the following actions being taken by this institution:

- A. Require said student to satisfactorily participate in a drug/alcohol abuse rehabilitation program approved for such purposes by federal, state or local health law enforcement or other appropriate agency.
- B. Within 30 days of receiving notice of criminal drug conviction these above actions must be complied with or up to and including termination procedures will be instituted.
